Coughlin Commercial Expands to the Heart of Tampa

Commercial real estate firm moves to Riverplace Tower.

Tampa, Fla. (Sept. 5, 2012) - Coughlin Commercial, a commercial real estate consulting and brokerage company, is expanding in Tampa with a new office in the Riverplace Tower overlooking Tampa Bay.

Coughlin Commercial has been servicing tenants in the Tampa area and a new office in downtown Tampa extends their commitment to the region. Company President Steve Coughlin will head the office.

"Tampa has been a strong market for us for a long time. To better service our growing Florida base we dearly needed an office in the bay area,'' said Coughlin, who is expecting great results by having a Tampa office for commercial representatives.

Coughlin Commercial is a full service commercial brokerage with services ranging from lease consulting and financial analysis, to design and construction management. The team uses their experience and market intelligence to find the best results for each individual client.

Coughlin Commercial focuses solely on the tenant, setting them apart from commercial real estate competitors. Through tenant representation Coughlin Commercial becomes your partner, dedicated to the success of your company by gaining you the most efficient and error free negotiation with your landlord. They are on your side and represent only your best interests.

The team has serviced a vast array of clients in the Tampa area including law firms, insurance agencies, and healthcare companies and will continue to keep producing results for local tenants. With the move, Coughlin Commercial wanted a location where they can be in the heart of the buildings and companies who they are working with, to continue to obtain better commercial leases.

Coughlin has offices in Orlando and Tampa, as well as Atlanta, Georgia. The new Tampa office is located at Riverplace Tower, 400 N Ashley Drive, Suite 1500, Tampa, FL 33602. 813-280-1270.
